Articles submitted for publication in the journal should not have been published already. Copyright remains with the journal and any subsequent reprinting elsewhere requires the express permission of the editors. Articles may cover any aspect of Byron Studies – literary, biographical, or historical. Brief notes are especially welcome. Articles on related Romantic or other topics will also be considered. Preference will be given to those which contain new material or offer new insights, and to those which are less than 6,000 words. Contributors are requested to provide abstracts of their article, the length of which should not exceed 150 words.

Every effort will be made to check the accuracy of information but responsibility for this and for views expressed lies with the contributors. Main articles should be addressed to the Editor:

Dr Jonathon Shears
School of Humanities
Keele University
Keele
Staffordshire ST5 5BG, UK
Tel: (+44) 01782 733014
Email: j.r.shears@keele.ac.uk

Each article should be sent with a second copy and should follow the format of the journal exactly.

Articles should have endnotes rather than footnotes but, where possible, information should be presented as part of the main text. Articles finally accepted for publication should also be presented on disk or as a Word attachment via email. It is the responsibility of the contributor to produce copy in the journal’s format. Where permission is needed to reproduce material (e.g. pictures), contributors should ascertain the sources of such permission and whether costs are involved. These costs will have to be met by the contributor. Each article will normally be referred to outside advisors.

Books for review should be sent to the Reviews Editor, Dr Philip Shaw, Department of English, University of Leicester, LE1 7RH, who also welcomes other review suggestions. The Editors may suggest changes, invite redrafting, modify, or prune material sent to them. Final decision on publication and its form will be for the editorial board on Dr Rawes’ or Dr Shaw’s advice.
